New Series Announcement

ELGAR STUDIES IN CONTEMPORARY COMMERCIAL LAW

Series editor: Christian Twigg-Flesner, School of Law, University of Warwick, UK.

Series Outline

The Contemporary Commercial Law series focuses on research monographs on any aspect of contemporary commercial law. For this series, “Commercial law” is understood as the law relating to the rights and obligations of the parties to a commercial transaction. In addition to topics such as domestic and international sales, secured transactions, and commercial contracts, the series also has a particular thematic strand for books on the digital economy. The series provides a forum for books offering original and high-quality research on contemporary Commercial Law, especially those with a comparative, regional or international perspective.

We are actively commissioning new titles which fit within the scope of this series and are keen to hear about new projects at an early stage.

If you wish to discuss either a book proposal or a preliminary idea, please contact the Publisher in the first instance. More information about the process for submitting a proposal, and the service we offer to our authors, can be found on our website at:
